

Burrinja Theatre Axed by Federal Government

- A home for Performing Arts in the Hills: GONE
- Disability Access to your cultural centre: GONE
- Your children's future theatre: GONE
- Indigenous cultural garden: GONE
- Your school's local professional venue: GONE

The Federal Government has reneged on its promise to contribute $2m to the Performing Arts Project at Burrinja. The entire project is condemned without Federal funding.

The Rudd Government must honour the Federal funding commitment made to Burrinja 9 months ago.

The project will deliver a 400 seat performance space, disability access, an indigenous garden and many other improvements. It will be used by the region's schools, community, professional and children's theatre and music groups for performances, rehearsals, workshops, youth arts activities and more. This community has worked tirelessly for over ten years to get this project.

You can help Burrinja and the Shire get back our funding!

To express your disapproval of the axing of the Burrinja Cultural Centre project, please write to the Minister.
